

ABSTRACT

1

2

3 Initially, a first plasticized material is injected into an injection mold and,
4 once this material has hardened on the edge, a second plasticized material is
5 injected into the injection mold and only the second plasticized material is moved
6 during solidification. In this manner, an increased strength of the injection molded
7 part is realized.

卷之三